

Tougaloo College

A Special Place...Your Passport to Success

Founded in 1869, Tougaloo College, a 500-acre campus located on the northern edge of Jackson, Mississippi, is a leading producer of African American health professionals including doctors and dentists, and attorneys and educators, including teachers, principals and school superintendents in the state of Mississippi.

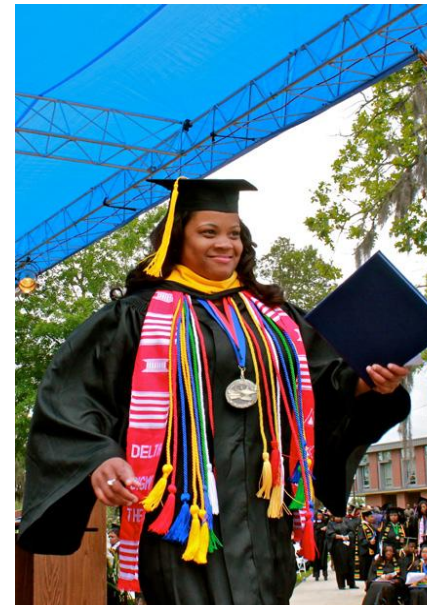

Historic Woodworth Chapel, the sanctuary for historic gatherings during the Civil Rights Movement, was a safe haven for activists who helped changed the social, political and economic fabric of the state of Mississippi and the nation, helping to shape a more just and humane society.

Tougaloo College ranked #23 out of 1,222 U.S. institutions for best economic value.
